One of the finest courses in the Midwest. This Frank Hummel layout is as picturesque as it is challenging. The main portion of the course lies south of the Loup River dike and is carved from a dense population of towering cottonwood trees. The north portion is Scottish links style with few younger, but growing trees. The rye grass fairways are generously wide, with flat to gently rolling contours where challenges such as thick cottonwoods, bunkers and ponds loom for those who are off line. Five tee placements make the course playable for all levels. Don't Miss Quail Run.
