Valley View is a short, imaginative layout. The front nine is open with several parallel fairways. The back nine offers some unique challenges. It lies in a valley below a subdivision of homes. A creek comes into play on six of the nine holes. The 10th is a short par 4 that tempts you to go for the green from a tee that sits on a ridge far above. Another ridge, of greater height, juts out from the left, forcing you to lay up or hit a large draw around it. The 13th is another short par 4 that lies by itself in an adjacent cornfield. Slice or pull and you'll be a true cornhusker. With a good view of Fremont and the Platte, the clubhouse is a good place to relax after your round.
